about your product

If it matters, measure it! Teachers regularly say they want their students to not only grow academically, but personally as well. Additionally, teachers frequently say they want students to feel safe and comfortable at school.

Many times, when I ask, "What will that look like?" "How will you know you have done that successfully?", educators struggle to answer.

Not anymore! Enjoy this tool that measures four categories: Academics, Personal Growth, Access to Resources, and Learning Environment. Give this survey once a quarter and compare which categories you grow in and which ones you may need to revisit.

This product is also available for purchase with an Excel tracker that is pre-populated with equations that will create a beautiful bar graph for each quarter so you can compare trends in student attitudes and beliefs. To purchase the tracker visit our e-products online store (link in section below).
